Drying preparations simply developed dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

TWO SIDES TO A QUESTION

(Original.)
 I was in New York for a day with nothing to do, and to pass the time I strolled into the park. There was a balmy air coming up from the south, a cloudless blue sky, opening buds, the piping of nest building birds. Strolling down the mall, I met a penitentiary, pushed by a negro boy, in which sat a young man of twenty-two or twenty-three years. As he passed me I noticed a melancholy look on his face which bespoke some great grief. To my surprise, he gave me a glance of recognition. Besides, his features were familiar to me. I turned, and he looked back.

"You don't remember me, colonel," he said.
 "I admit I can't place you."
 "Not remarkable since you have not seen me since I wore cadet gray, was clean shaven and had my hair cropped. You were teaching me the art of war, which in my case meant how to make a wreck of myself."

"You were of that class graduated in advance to take part in the Spanish war?"
 "I was; Granger—Ward Granger." Suddenly it all came back to me. This man had been one of the prominent men in his class, a cadet captain, an excellent student, an all round popular man.

"My dear boy," I exclaimed, taking his proffered hand, "I remember you perfectly for an honor to your class, and I know by your war record that you are an honor to your country."

"A retired honor, with no feet," he said gloomily.
 A picture flashed before me—a "hop" at West Point. Granger was a graceful dancer, and I had noticed him especially sailing past me in all the freshness and confidence of youth with a beautiful girl to whom he was engaged to be married.

"Let me see," I said musingly. "It seems to me that you and Miss—"
 "Towne?"
 "Yes, Miss Towne."
 "We were engaged when I went to Cuba. When I was sent back in this condition—"

"Surely she did not?"
 "She showed herself a noble girl. It was I who would not consent."
 "You?"
 "Yes, I," he went on bitterly. "Do you suppose I would permit a young girl of twenty to enter upon the care of a man condemned to live a cripple, to witness every day his wrecked hopes, to see him trundled about like this, to turn her course at the very beginning into a channel which must grow darker to the end? Not I. You never taught me that kind of honor, colonel."

"Yet how many women in their youth have wrecked their lives by marrying men perfect in bodily health, but lepers within! An imperfect body is better than a devilish soul."
 "No woman would get herself in trouble marrying a devil if he takes no woman should knowingly take my burden, and no woman shall take it."

Though I made no reply, I felt that he was right.
 "Is Miss Towne married?" I asked.
 "No."

I sat down on a wooden bench. The negro went a short distance away, and Granger and I talked for an hour. Then I left him, bidding him goodbye, for I had been ordered to a southern post and was to leave the next day. A year later I received an envelope by mail from which I took cards announcing the marriage of Lieutenant Ward Leighton Granger, U. S. A., retired, and Helen Arline Towne. By the same mail came a letter from the bride:

Dear Colonel B.—Ward has asked me to write to you to "confess" what he calls his "shameful retreat" from the position taken by him at the time he last saw you. I bear witness that he maintained that position for a year, during which time I resolutely fought to carry it both by assault and undermining. He says he gave you his reasons, and I only remain for me to give you mine—viz, I could not live without him.

I laid the letter down with a sigh. I was sufficiently experienced to understand the burden this woman had taken on herself and considered her course and the yielding of her husband a mistake. I wrote a note of encouragement, but refrained from expressing any approval of the union.

Three years later while exchanging stations I passed through New York. I knew I ought to call on Ward Granger and his wife, but dreaded to do so, expecting, even after a few years, to see the effects of what I considered an unfortunate marriage. Nevertheless I called. I was ushered into the library and in a few minutes heard the thump of crutches above, then Granger's coming downstairs. Beside him, holding with one hand to a crutch and with the other to the balusters, walked a boy of two years, chattering like a magpie. Mrs. Granger followed, admonishing her son to be careful and not get in his father's way. I advanced into the hall to meet them and at a glance saw that Granger was no longer a mental sufferer. His face broke into a happy smile, while his wife, also smiling, exclaimed:

"You thought we'd made a mistake, colonel, didn't you?"
 "I—mistake?" I assured you—"
 "A nice letter of congratulation you sent us—cold as an icicle!"
 "Admit, colonel," said the husband, "that if you were on a court martial to try me for a dishonorable surrender you'd convict me."
 "And you'd convict me," said the wife, "for recklessness and stupidity."
 "Madam," I replied, "I would sentence any woman for such an act to be shot, but in your case I would recommend a pardon and promotion to the highest rank."

BARNUM ON THE DEFENSIVE.

The Great Showman and Three Curiousities of His Museum.

Mr. Barnum's innate and exuberant love of a joke, which was a trait maternally inherited, and his frequent habit of self depreciation were not always quite understood by the public. He therefore suffered sometimes from too much of his own disparaging frankness. His first autobiography, issued in 1855, was not meant to be taken as literal truth, but it was so taken, and the criticism of it was very bitter. The soberer matter of fact public of that day did not see the Pickwickian sense and the orientalism of statement that pervaded it. The cold type could not carry with it the twinkling of the author's eye.

The three things, however, which brought upon him the sharpest criticism were the three curiosities of his show which were called Joyce Heth, the Woolly Horse, and the Fee-fee Mermaid. The first of these was said to be Washington's body servant and was given an incredible age; the second one was a real colt that was a freak; the last was probably of Japanese manufacture. Mr. Barnum constructed neither the second nor the third, but bought them from exhibitors, and he was himself fooled at first by the certificates of Joyce Heth's history.

Barnum frankly admits in his biography that he employed two of them to advertise his museum and was not trying to make their history too exact in announcing them. He romanced somewhat, he says regretfully, in describing the horse, born in Indiana, as a curiosity discovered by Colonel Fremont in the Rocky mountains, but did this to call attention to a museum of curiosities of which it, with the other two, was merely a fractional part. He said he should not do this again, and expressed a wish that it had not been done at all. The best palliation he could plead for these schemes was that without them he did give a big money's worth to all who visited his museum. No perfectly ethical defense beyond this was offered.—Joel Benton in Century.

Both Thought Alike.

Jones and Smith were two old bachelors who lived on the most intimate terms, constantly dined together and smoked the peaceful pipe and occasionally went off together for a week's holiday by the sea. But a change came over the spirit of Smith's dream. Well on in the fifties he got married, and on his return from the honeymoon invited Jones to come and dine with him and be a witness of his happiness.

The dinner over, the old friends sat down in front of the fire after Mrs. Smith had gone upstairs.
 "Well, my dear Jones," said Benedict, "now tell me quite candidly what do you think of my dear wife?"
 Jones hesitated for a moment, then replied:
 "Well, Smith, if I must speak quite candidly, I don't think much of her."
 Smith patted him on the knee as he replied confidentially:
 "Neither do I, my dear Jones."

When George Raised Tobacco.

The Wills Tobacco company of Bristol, England, says a London correspondent, cherishes an autograph letter from George Washington to the original of Wills' firm, written while the Father of His Country was still a grower of tobacco. It runs as follows:

Virginia, 25th November, 1759.
 Gentlemen—Some time this year I expect to get on board the Cary for your house fifty households of tobacco of my own and Jno. Parke Custis', which please to insure in the usual manner. I shall also by the same ship send you ten or twelve households more if I can get them on board in time, but this I believe will be impracticable if Captain Tulman uses that dispatch in loading which he now has in his power to do. I am, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servant,
 G. WASHINGTON.

She Was So Pleasant.

Oliver Wendell Holmes related a little incident as occurring in his own life which had no little effect on him.
 "Many years ago," he said, "in walking among the graves at Mount Auburn, I came upon a plain, white marble slab which bore an epitaph of only four words, but to my mind they meant more than any of the labored descriptions on other monuments: 'She was so pleasant.' That one note revealed the music of a life of which I knew nothing more."

Pleasant For the Baby.

A Canadian firm recently placed with the Montreal and Toronto newspapers an advertisement of a new nursing bottle it had patented and was about to place on the market. After giving directions for use, the ad. ended in this manner:
 "When the baby is done drinking, it must be unscrewed and laid in a cool place under a tap. If the baby does not thrive on fresh milk, it should be boiled."

FRUITFUL TURKEY.

The Crops Are Usually Magnificent, and the Waste Is Immense.

No government, however corrupt, selfish, venal, extravagant and exacting, can bring a population to starvation in a land like Turkey. Grapevines run all over the houses. The Turkish vineyards are incomparable. The poor Turk takes little trouble about his agricultural implements. His plow is much like that which Noah must have used, for it is simply a long piece of wood, with a yoke of oxen at one end of it and a single handle at the other. With this the rascal just scratches the soil. The crops are usually magnificent, but the waste is immense. Horses, mules and donkeys go loaded to market, but the road is strewn with grain leaking from old sacks, and thousands of turkeys which may be bought at 12 cents apiece feed on the dropping corn.

Thousands of sheep flourish on the vast pasture lands of the wide valleys. Yet the people do not eat voraciously of animal food. They only need a little lamb or mutton to shred into fragments, that they may stew it with rice into the delicious dish called "pilaff." The Turks relish their glorious watermelons. They can contentedly live as approximate vegetarians. No nation is at so little expense for dietetic commodities. The cows do not give very much milk, but that milk is almost as rich as cream. Cotton grows splendidly in many parts of the empire, and so does tobacco. Olives, apples, pears, all sorts of plums, peaches, apricots, pomegranates, tomatoes, melons, squashes, quinces, oranges and lemons abound in the poorest gardens. The provinces which owe allegiance to the sultan would feed ten times the population now inhabiting them.

At the bottom of the wonderful physical vitality of the Turkish race is the universal abstinence of the common people. They are the most abstemious race on the earth and the healthiest. The soldiers, peasants, merchants and members of the learned professions never touch alcohol, although the upper classes of Constantinople drink considerably.

Flogging.

Flogging, in public and otherwise, is not of mediæval origin. In the middle ages ridicule and not physical suffering was the means employed for the correction of wrongdoers; hence the pillory, the stocks and the tabor—a chair suspended high over the heads of the crowd, in which women, generally scolds, were brought to a sweet reasonableness—but the whipping post belongs to the Tudor age. The Elizabethan servant question was met by flogging girls for idleness on Sunday morning. But it was in the Hanoverian period that flogging was carried to excess. As late as 1804 six women were publicly flogged in Gloucester, England, because they had been found begging.

European Jiu Jitsu.

A French teacher of boxing points out that an art or self defense approximately equivalent to Jiu Jitsu was known in Europe in the seventeenth century. Its principles are expounded in a work by one Nicolas Peters, published at Amsterdam in 1674 and bearing the lengthy explanatory title: "The art of wrestling and how one can protect oneself in all kinds of quarrels that may occur; how one can with agility and rapidly repel all unfair attacks and meet one's adversary with science." The work is illustrated. The author apparently anticipated many of the characteristic grips of the Japanese exponents of today.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach growls or burps, loss of breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion of dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver purgative, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming bases. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicated: Prof. Dr. F. C. M. D. of Jefferson Med. College, Phila.; Prof. Dr. C. Wood, M. D. of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Dr. H. H. M. D. of Baltimore Med. College, Baltimore; Prof. Dr. J. M. D. of Univ. of Michigan, Ann Arbor; Prof. Dr. J. M. ## Nolan Case---Like Banquo's Ghost it Will Not Down

The Nolan case is now under investigation by the State Board of Education and it will be another month before a decision can possibly be reached in the matter. In the meantime, owing to the arbitrary action of the Trustees of the Sonoma Grammar School, the accused principal still presides over the destinies of the school, and as a result a majority of the parents of the scholars are up in arms over what they conceive to be an unfair act on the part of the Trustees. They claim, and their claim appears to be a just one, that principal Nolan should have resigned pending the grave charges with which he stands accused, it matters not whether he be innocent or guilty. The parents are also highly incensed at the position taken by the School Trustees of this district in so serious a matter, who, after giving the accused principal a "mock trial" and "exonerating" him, re-elected him for another term. The result is that many children are being kept at home while numerous others are reluctantly sent to the school by their parents to keep them off the street.

Mr. Nolan has had poor advisers during his troubles and he has made many mistakes, the worst of the many being his determination to hold on to his position instead of adopting the more sensible course of resigning pending the charges sworn to against him. This ill-advised action has arrayed against him many of the old families of the valley.

This, together with his cruel assault on one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution and the domineering tactics of his over-zealous friends, it would seem to us, justifies the assertion that Mr. Nolan, be he innocent or guilty of the more serious charges filed against him, has outlived his usefulness as a teacher in this community.

In almost every newspaper you pick up you are pretty sure to find a lot of gush about the man behind the counter and the man behind the gun; the man behind the times and the man behind his rents; the man behind the plowshare and the man behind the fence; the man behind the whistle and the man behind the cars; the man behind the kodak and the man behind the bars; the man behind his whiskers and the man behind his fists; and everything is entered on the list. But they've skipped another fellow of whom nothing has been said—the fellow who is even, or a little way ahead; who pays for what he gets, whose bills are always signed. He's a blamed sight more important than the man who is behind. All the editors and merchants and the whole commercial clan are indebted for existence to this honest fellow-man. He keeps us all in business and his town is never dead; and so we take our hats off to the man who is ahead.—Judge.

EL VERANO.

By Patsie

Peter Forni transacted business in Sonoma on Monday.

Monday and Tuesday were the warmest days of the season.

The Bellevue Hotel has averaged a hundred guests so far this season.

Our "bike doctor," Paul Mosner, reports business brisk in the bicycle line.

Judge Joseph B. Small passed through here en route to the county seat Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Rossi of the Swiss-American Hotel have been doing a fine business this season.

L. V. Harvey, the obliging S. P. station agent at this place, will sell you round trip tickets to the lake resorts in the high Sierras for $15.50 to $16.

Our summer resorts still continue to cater to a large number of summer people who are here to enjoy our hospitality, our beautiful surroundings and healthful climate.

A large number of admirers of this game in this place will take in the boxing bout between Cornelius and Landers, which is scheduled to take place in Sonoma on the evening of the 25th inst.

The little three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wyatt of this place was attacked by a vicious cow Sunday. The child was picked up on the horns of the cow and tossed high in the air, fortunately landing over a fence out of reach of the enraged animal. The little fellow's collar bone was broken and was later set by Drs. Byron and Hassall.

Don't fail to visit El Verano Villa Saturday evenings. You will receive courteous treatment and can enjoy yourself free of charge. The best music in the valley has been engaged for the Saturday night dances at this popular resort. The proprietors of the Villa have left no stone unturned thus far this season to entertain their guests and their hospitality is fully appreciated if one is to judge by the large gatherings at these Saturday night functions.

The Index-Tribune has the largest circulation in this place of any other paper in the county and is both sought after and read with avidity.

G. Della Maggiora, proprietor of the Sonoma soda works, met with a painful accident in this place last Saturday night. He was driving along the county road when his horses took fright and ran away, colliding with another vehicle. Mr. Della Maggiora was thrown from his seat and received numerous cuts and bruises about the face and head. Drs. Byron & Hassall attended to his injuries. About a year ago Mr. Della Maggiora's brother was thrown from the seat of the same wagon in Glen Ellen and had a leg broken.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer the Hundred dollar reward for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. ## STATE BOARD TAKES UP NOLAN CASE.

Action Deferred Until Next

Month When Innocence or Guilt of Accused Will be Decided

The wild assertion made by an over-zealous and irresponsible sheet last week that the Nolan case had been disposed of by the County Board of Education by an exoneration of the accused principal is not borne out by facts, as the following dispatch from Sacramento goes to show:

Sacramento, August 13.—Action on the charges preferred by Dr. A. E. Byron against Professor W. C. Nolan of Sonoma City, alleging improper conduct and immorality, was to-night deferred by the State Board of Education until next month. In the meantime the Grievance Committee of the Board will secure from the Sonoma County Board of Education the conclusions on the specific charges whereby that Board held that the facts were insufficient to cause it to recommend the revocation of Nolan's life diploma. Judge J. A. Barham appeared on behalf of Nolan, and Clarence F. Lea appeared as special prosecutor.

The State Board wanted a statement of conclusions and findings but received only the resolution. Dr. Burk of the San Francisco Normal school did not want to be discourteous and moved the ratification of the Sonoma County Board's resolution, which did not receive a second.

Dr. Millsbaugh of Los Angeles then raised the question of the power of the Board to refer the matter to the County Board for a verdict.

The case then went over until the September meeting of the State Board, the Grievance Committee in the meantime to secure from the Sonoma Board a statement of facts and conclusions on the specific charges and embody them in its report.

Boxing Contest.

There will be a boxing contest before the Sonoma Athletic Club on Saturday evening, August 25th, between Emile Cornelius of this place and Jack Landers of the California Club of San Francisco. Young Cornelius has already commenced to train for the bout, which will be a hard-fighting one. His trainers are Bob Lundie, Theodore Kiser and George Cornelius. The timekeeper will be Wm. Chase. The men will enter the ring at 150 pounds.

This is Cornelius' sixth bout and he has won all previous scraps with his knock-out punch and fought a draw with Do Rose of Santa Rosa, whom he afterwards knocked out in the first round in a ten-round go. So far he has never went down to defeat and it remains to be seen whether Jack Landers can stop him.

Want Another Principal for Grammar School.

A petition is being circulated by the Fathers' Club praying the School Trustees of this district to request the resignation of Principal Nolan of the Sonoma Grammar School, charged with misconduct. The petition already represents nearly two-thirds of last term's daily average attendance of scholars of the school. The petition will be presented to the School Trustees by a committee from the Father's Club within a few days.

The Daily Chronicle and Index-Tribune only $9 for the two news-

The $10,000 Damage Suit.

The libel suit for $10,000 damages brought by Walter C. Nolan against A. E. Byron was set for September 25th, in the Superior Court of this county Monday. This suit, like many others that are instituted in our courts for damages, is apt to drag its slow length along for many a day.

LITTLE CHILD LOSES LIFE IN RESERVOIR

Body Recovered Shortly

After Little Tot Fell in

But Life Had

Fled.

Josephine, the little eighteen-months-old girl of Mr. and Mrs. Mahon of San Francisco, was accidentally drowned in a small reservoir on the Lawrence Villa grounds last Sunday evening about eight o'clock.

The little tot wandered away unknown to its parents and was not missed for some time, as the father thought the little girl was with its mother while the latter was so sure she was with the father. As soon as they realized that the child was alone somewhere a hasty search was made and their worst fears were realized when its lifeless form was discovered in a reservoir only a short distance from the house.

Dr. Arthur, a near-by neighbor, was summoned, as was also Dr. Thomson, but all efforts to resuscitate the child were fruitless.

Coroner Blackburn of Petaluma, upon being notified by phone of the facts of the drowning, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The funeral took place Monday, the remains being laid to rest in Mountain Cemetery.

ATTEMPT TO ROB KENWOOD STATION.

Burglars Put to Flight by

Nervy Station Agent

Who Fires Shot

at Them.

At an early hour last Saturday morning burglars attempted to force an entrance into the Southern Pacific Railway station at Kenwood, but were frustrated in their designs by the nerve of L. D. Gregory, the agent at that place. Unknown to the burglars he occupied apartments in the station and was awakened by them while they were trying to force the door of the baggage room. Realizing that burglars were at work in the building he sprang out of bed and picking up his pistol opened fire on them, blazing away through the door they were working upon. The cracksmen were taken completely by surprise and beat a precipitate retreat. An investigation showed that the burglars had stolen the action men's handcar from the car-house in Santa Rosa and ran it down the road to Kenwood. The freight house had also been entered and a quantity of edibles purloined.

No clew to the burglars has yet been obtained.

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Engler and Miss Amy Engler have returned from a two-weeks outing at Dillon's Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Campbell returned from a brief visit to the metropolis Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Miller spent Saturday and Sunday at their beautiful country home in the eastern suburbs of town. Ever since the big fire in the metropolis Mr. Miller, who is the representative of the Standard Oil Company on this coast, has been a very hard-worked man. In addition to his other duties he has dispensed thousands upon thousands of dollars in charity from funds contributed by his company, and to place these funds where they would do the most good to the greater number has been no easy task.

The engagement of Miss Edna Montgomery to Lieutenant Edward A. Sturgis, U. S. A., has been announced. Miss Montgomery is well-known in this valley, and with her sister Queen and brother Edward Montgomery has participated in a number of social functions here. Lieutenant Sturgis is attached to the Fifth Cavalry, now stationed at Fort Wingate, New Mexico. The wedding takes place in October at the home of the bride's mother in San Francisco. The young couple will make their home at Wingate.

The Young Physician.

WHAT HIS EXPERIENCE PROVED.

In the early sixties it was usually the duty of a practicing physician to ride many miles every day on his regular rounds of visits to his patients. In those days a young man who had received a splendid medical training in one of the best medical colleges of that day was accustomed to ride ten, twenty, thirty miles or more visiting the sick and afflicted. His success was soon phenomenal. Doctors and families called him for consultation to towns at considerable distances by rail. His specialty was the cure of those common and distressing diseases of women. He had early discovered that by combining the extracts of the following medicinal plants, in just the right proportion, without the use of alcohol his "Prescription" almost invariably cured such cases. Later, in order to place this charge to accurately prepare his "Prescription" and put it in shape for shipment to all parts of the world. This remedy, which he named Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a "patent medicine" but a tonic and nervine for women, and a regular physician's prescription, and contains the following ingredients: Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Calfskin root, Blue Cohosh root, Golden Seal root, and chemically pure glycerine.

Dr. Pierce does not claim for his "Favorite Prescription" that it is a "cure-all." It is recommended as a most perfect specific for women's peculiar ailments. So uniform are the results which follow the use of this remarkable remedy, that it can be truly affirmed of "Favorite Prescription" that it always helps and always cures. Sixty-eight per cent of the women who give this medicine a fair and faithful trial are cured and remain cured.

It is a powerful invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the womb and its appendages. The health, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will prove a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strengthening power.

THE PROOF.

"I want to tell you of the great improvement in my health, since taking your 'Favorite Prescription,' says Mrs. H. S. Jones, of Forest, N. C. 'When I began its use I was a physical wreck and had despaired of ever having good health again. Could not sit up all day. I noted a great improvement. The first bottle was all used. Was suffering with almost every pain that a woman is subject to, had inflammation of the ovaries, painful and suppressed periods, and other symptoms of female disease. After taking six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' I felt like a new person. Can ride horseback and take all kinds of exercise and not feel tired. Only one or two of these tiny, sugar-coated pills will set me up and get me in healthy, vigorous action a fortnight. Little Pill, little dose, produce great results. First put up by old Dr. R. V. Pierce, over 40 years ago. Much imitated but never equaled. Send 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing and get a copy
